3. Quick Service Selection Guide

Select Service ID 20 — Manufacturer Licence

Consider this service when the applicant manufactures or produces weights, measures, weighing instruments, measuring instruments, or related equipment.

Do not recommend it merely because the user sells or repairs such equipment.

Select Service ID 26 — Registration of Packers

Consider this service when the applicant packages commodities before they are sold or distributed.

Examples may include a business that fills, wraps, labels, bottles, boxes, or otherwise prepares commodities in packaged form.

The department must verify the exact legal applicability.

Select Service ID 28 — Repairer Licence

Consider this service when the applicant repairs, adjusts, cleans, lubricates, paints, services, or restores weights or measures so that they conform to applicable standards.

The Legal Metrology Act defines a repairer broadly to include persons providing such servicing activities. (India Code)

Select Service ID 32 — Dealer Licence

Consider this service when the applicant buys, sells, supplies, or distributes weights or measures as a business.

The Legal Metrology Act defines a dealer in relation to weights or measures broadly around buying, selling, supplying, or distributing them. (India Code)

Select Service ID 34 — Registration of Importers

Consider this service when the applicant imports packaged commodities and requires registration as an importer of packaged commodities.

Do not recommend it only because the applicant imports weighing or measuring equipment. First confirm whether the question concerns imported packaged commodities.

4. Common Clarification Questions

Before recommending a Legal Metrology service, ask only the questions needed to distinguish the applicant's business activity:

1. Do you manufacture, repair, sell, pack, or import the product?
2. Are you dealing with weights or measuring instruments, or with packaged commodities?
3. Do you manufacture the measuring equipment yourself?

4. Do you only sell or distribute equipment made by another manufacturer?
5. Do you repair or service weighing or measuring instruments?
6. Do you package goods before sale or distribution?
7. Are the packaged commodities imported into India?
8. Does your business perform more than one of these activities?
9. Are you applying for a new licence or registration?
10. Do you already hold a Legal Metrology licence or registration?

Do not ask all questions at once. Ask the smallest useful clarification question.

6. Handling Businesses With Multiple Activities

A business may perform more than one activity.

Examples:

- A company manufactures weighing machines and also sells them.
- A dealer also repairs weighing instruments.
- An importer also repacks goods locally.
- A manufacturer also operates a repair workshop.

The chatbot must not assume that one service automatically covers all activities.

Use a response such as:

Your business appears to perform more than one activity. You may need separate guidance for each role. Please confirm whether you manufacture, sell, repair, pack, or import the products.

The chatbot may shortlist multiple services, but it must not claim that all shortlisted licences are legally mandatory without verified departmental guidance.

7. Recommended Decision Flow

Step 1 — Identify the Subject

Ask:

Are you dealing with weighing or measuring instruments, or with packaged commodities?

Step 2 — Identify the Activity

For weights and measures, ask:

Do you manufacture, sell, or repair the equipment?

For packaged commodities, ask:

Do you pack the commodities locally or import them in packaged form?

Step 3 — Identify Multiple Roles

Ask:

Does your business perform any other activity, such as both selling and repairing?

Step 4 — Recommend or Shortlist

When the activity is clear, recommend the matching service.

When the activity is unclear, ask one focused clarification question instead of guessing.
